U. S. Expected to Approve a Chinese Offer

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Nationalist China were reported consulting today on a response to Communist China's announcement of a limited cease-fire in the Formosa area.

Wary U. S. officials privately expressed delight the Reds broke the momentum of their massive artillery assault on Nationalist Quemoy. But none would predict whether the cease-fire would open a way for a permanent settlement.

The Red Chinese cited "humanitarian considerations" in announcing a seven-day halt to the artillery fire that has battered Quemoy since Aug. 23. They invited the Nationalist Chinese to send fresh supplies to the offshore island, but specified the shipments must be made without U. S. convoys.

They called also for direct peace talks between the two Chinese factions, but advised the Nationalists to beware of Americans.

At about the same time, Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared Russia would intervene only if the United States were to attack Red China.

On two points, at least, it appeared that Communist conditions for a cease-fire would be met.

1. With a cessation of Red attacks, officials said, there would be no need for U. S. conveying of Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy.

2. And with the halting of Red attacks there would seem to be no occasion for Nationalist counter-fire. But U. S. officials said technically, at least, this decision would be up to Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek and his advisers.

The Red maneuvers were expected to get careful study from President Eisenhower and his top advisers. Secretary of State Dulles is due here Tuesday from his island retreat in Lake Ontario.

Nationalist Chinese reaction at Taipei was blunt and pessimistic.

McClellan Sees Support for Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) today predicted greater support in the next Congress for his bill to combat abuses in labor unions.

McClellan, chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, indicated he expects this increased support to stem in part from the results of next month's congressional elections.

Speaking in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U. S. News & World Report, McClellan said organized labor has failed to police itself "in some areas thus far, and under conditions that now prevail, I am convinced that it cannot in those areas police itself." He did not say what areas he had in mind.

Further, the rackets prober said that in some places local police "take no interest and will not give protection" in labor extortion and similar cases.

He criticized some prosecutors, too, and said he believes such laxity in law enforcement is due to influence of labor unions.

McClellan did not name any names. The court room was completely filled. Most of the seats in the spectators' section were taken by Negroes.

The NAACP attorneys asked for an injunction against leasing of the public school buildings at Little Rock, or as an alternative, an order requiring that any private schools be operated on an integrated basis.

"We think the Supreme Court of the United States, by its ruling last Monday, settled once and for all, all the efforts to circumvent the order to integrate the schools."

The court room was completely filled. Most of the seats in the spectators' section were taken by Negroes.

The NAACP attorneys asked for an injunction against leasing of the public school buildings at Little Rock, or as an alternative, an order requiring that any private schools be operated on an integrated basis.

"The unfortunate closing of the schools in Little Rock rests squarely upon the officials of the State of Arkansas."

Richard Butler, attorney for the Little Rock School Board, suggested a ruling is essential on constitutionality of recent Arkansas legislative acts under which the schools were closed.

Butler expressed belief that the a ruling by Arkansas District Judge John E. Miller meant that such a ruling on the Arkansas laws is necessary. Judge Miller refused to rule on the NAACP request for a restraining order on grounds he lacked jurisdiction.

Butler expressed belief the situation under which the high schools are not in operation "will continue for an indefinite period in the future."

Butler mentioned two Arkansas legislative acts. One gave Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus power to close the schools. The other gave Faubus the power to withhold public school funds.

The hearing moved at a fast clip. Branton spoke only 13 minutes and MacGuiness nine.

It was the newest action in the long struggle between the U. S. government and Faubus and Arkansas segregationist forces.

In a 25-page brief, U. S. attorneys emphasized two major points:

1. "The persistent and resourceful schemes which have been devised for evading the decrees of the federal courts enforcing school desegregation."

2. "Little Rock has become the testing ground of the rule of law and the capacity of the judicial process to give real meaning and effect to the federal constitution."

More Teachers Hired by County School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski County School Superintendent E. P. Dunn said today six additional high school teachers had been hired to augment the staffs of the county's five high schools.

Dunn said this was necessary because 378 students who formerly attended Little Rock's high schools now are enrolled in the county's rural schools. The city high schools were closed against integration by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

The new teachers, Dunn said, include four from Craighead County who will teach pending reopening of their own schools.

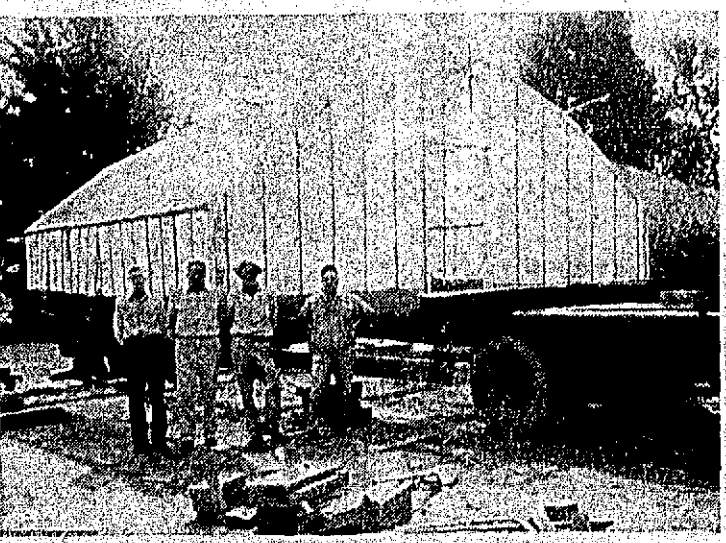

Rural schools in Craighead County are necessary for the rural students in the county.

Bomb Destroys Clinton, Tenn. High School

By BILL RAWLINS

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The principal of Integrated Clinton High School, which was wrecked Sunday by three bombs expertly set off in early morning fog, said today classes will be resumed Tuesday.

W. D. Humm said classes will be held in the undamaged gymnasium, the National Guard Armory and church school facilities until Thursday. After that, he added, the entire student body of 550 white and 11 Negro pupils will be transported by bus to a vacant school building in nearby Oak Ridge.

Eight Negro girls, five of them walking from their homes here and three others arriving from rural areas by bus, were seen entering the gymnasium for today's student assembly.

Officials tentatively estimated damage to the bombed building at $300,000. The rambling brick structure was built in 1927. Sixteen of its 20 classrooms were reduced to rubble by the explosions.

Clinton, a town of 4,000 population, is 20 miles northwest of Knoxville.

Five Anderson County officials flew to Nashville Sunday to confer with Gov. Frank Clement, who promised them the fullest state aid in continuing classes and "solving" the bombing.

Agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Identification and the FBI arrived in Clinton to investigate. Two bits of spent fuse were picked up for laboratory tests, but no other clues were reported.

Clinton police, who could see nothing through the pre-dawn fog at the school across the street from the police station, said the blast went off with precise three-minute timing at 4:21, 4:23 and 4:27 a. m.

The explosives were placed within the school. This was in contrast to other recent Southern bombings—Hattie Colton School in Nashville last September, and Jewish Centers in Nashville, Miami and Jacksonville last spring—where the explosives were set outside the buildings or in entranceways.

Walter Bearden, FBI agent from Knoxville, said one blast was set off in the boiler room, demolishing it and an entranceway leading to the separate gymnasium, and wrecking an adjoining science room.

Another charge tore out a wall in the center of the building, wrecked several classrooms and hurled debris into the school auditorium.

The third ripped out another end of the building.

"Whoever did this job knew what he was doing and was out to cause as much damage as he could," said Asst. Police Chief Jesse Braden.

He said the door inside the building indicated that the explosive used was colitic, a slow-burning type commonly used in the coal mines in this area.

The blasts ripped 16 of the 20 classrooms in the building and left only the gymnasium, and a home economics section, the band room and the library undamaged.

Churches throughout this small town 20 miles northwest of Knoxville quickly offered their buildings for use as emergency classrooms. School officials in neighboring Oak Ridge offered a vacant 25-room school.

The first week of desegregation there was accomplished by growing disturbances which were culminated at week's end by rioting. Gov. Frank Clement sent in state troops and National Guardsmen.

Numerous other racial incidents within the school followed during 1956, but school officials reported last year and the first few weeks this year were mostly peaceful.

The October term of Hempstead County Court got underway today with Judge Lyle Brown presiding.

State Rights Group Will Meet Tonight

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The States Rights Council, recently organized by former member of the pro-segregation Capital Citizens Council, will hold its first meeting here tonight.

Welfare Group Urged to Help Keep Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A note urging state welfare recipients to support the three per cent sales tax is being included with welfare checks now being mailed.

Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams said yesterday he would make a "full statement" about the mailing later.

"It's a good thing," he said, "and there will probably be no other one to go out later."

The unsigned note states: "The money which makes your grant possible comes mostly from the sales tax. This tax will be voted on November 4 in the general election. If Act 10 is defeated, your grant will have to be cut in half on December 1. Your vote for Act 10 will prevent this cut in your grant. Get your friends and relatives to vote for Act 10."

Board to Get Plan Tonight at Regular Meet

Tonight at a regular City Board of Directors meeting the Water and Light Plant Commission will submit a proposal recommending that municipal Water and Light Plant be placed on a standby basis and that a contract be accepted with Arkansas Power and Light Company to furnish this city electricity.

The meeting tonight is open to the public. The City Board is expected to go along with the Commission's recommendation.

A study of the proposal has been underway for some time and its an established fact the city can purchase power considerably cheaper than it can manufacture it.

The Commission finds itself in a position where another large bond issue would have to be issued to increase the local plant's output or purchase the power. The output favors the latter course.

Under the standby setup a skeleton crew would be maintained at the local plant. Naturally the City would continue maintenance of its distribution system, collections etc., as usual. Arkansas Power and Light Plant will bring the power right to the Hope City limits.

A spokesman for the Commission said that every effort would be made to use Water and Light Plant personnel in other city department where possible. He indicated today that if the deal went through a general rate reduction in residential and business houses could be expected almost immediately. Purchasing power from the outside will represent a substantial annual savings to the city and we plan to pass a portion of that savings along to customers, he said.

Details of the proposal will be submitted to the Board tonight for approval, although the Commission has the power to act on its own. However, the Commission wants the consent of the Directors.

Chinese Guns Silent, Big Convoy Moves

TAIPEI (Tuesday) (AP) — Nationalist China today denounced the Communist proclaimed seven-day truce in Formosa Strait.

The guns were silent and the Nationalists reported record amounts of supplies were poured, under American escort, into the hitherto-blockade offshore islands.

But government spokesman Sampson Shen called the Communist cease-fire a "diabolical peace offensive" and "a full before a new storm."

He also declared the Nationalists were standing firm against a Communist call for direct negotiations with the Reds to settle the current 45-day-old crisis.

Peiping announced a seven-day cease-fire, effective Sunday midnight, on the condition that the United States stop escorting Nationalist Chinese convoys to the embattled island.

The cease-fire order was coupled with a call to Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek to negotiate directly on a settlement over Formosa and the offshore islands.

Chiang, in an interview with Cecil Brown of NBC, rejected any such direct negotiations with the Communists. He said the Peiping announcement was a "trick and deception," and he hoped the United States would continue to escort Nationalist supply convoys with its 7th Fleet warships.

Sampson Shen, Chiang's information director, declared the purpose of Peiping's order was to create a split between Taipei and Washington—and a split appeared to have been the result in the first reaction of officials in the two capitals.

Shen declared the Nationalists distrusted the Communist cease-fire and would ignore it. He said there would be no withdrawal of the Nationalist request for American escorts.

Washington officials, however, privately expressed their delight even at the limited and conditional cease-fire. Washington reports said a rejection of Peiping's announcement was out of the question. These reports pointed out that with a cease-fire the reason for American escorts ceased to exist.

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have emphasized the central policy of getting a cease-fire in Formosa Strait and of not giving to force.

In Washington, a link was seen between Peiping's order and a sharp statement by Soviet Premier Khrushchev Sunday declaring the Soviet Union would not be drawn into all-out Chinese war on the side of Red China unless the United States attacked the Communist regime. As Washington saw it, Khrushchev was urging Peiping back from the brink.

"Certainly we're roommates and good friend," says Spahn, "but as a result of this competition, I think we're good for each other."

In 1957 Warfen and Lew set a goal for themselves—a total of 45 victories between them. Spahn won 22, Burdette 20, counting the series, so they fell three short.

Undaunted, they fixed the 1958 goal at a flat 50. For the regular season, Spahn won 22 and Burdette 20 to 42. Even should they let their four in the series they would still be four behind the make.

Sophomores Carry Browns to Victory

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

A pair of sophomores in the pay-for-play ranks—Milt Plum and Jimmy Brown—are threatening to again make the Cleveland Browns the dominant force in the National Football League.

The two youngsters, Plum is 23, Brown 22, have provided Coach Paul Brown's team with an awe-inspiring offense comparable to the attack Cleveland was able to mobilize in the days of Otto Graham and Co.

Plum, former Penn State star, passed for two touchdowns and completed 13 of 14 passes for 107 yards Sunday. Brown, an All-America at Syracuse, scored three touchdowns and carried the ball for 129 yards. The result: the Browns second consecutive victory, a 45-12 whacking of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Meanwhile there were a couple of other surprises as the NFL split the second week of the season over two days.

Saturday night, Baltimore's Colts broke Lemmy Moore loose for four touchdowns as they displayed a strong attack in rolling up a 51-38 score over the previously unbeaten Chicago Bears. The Cardinals, usually looked upon as Chicago's poor sisters, upset the Washington Redskins 27-10.

In other Sunday action, Philadelphia defeated favored New York 27-24. Los Angeles belted San Francisco 33-3 with the 40ers Joe Perry setting a career rushing record, and Detroit and Green Bay played a 13-13 tie.

Cleveland was so superior that Plum and Brown set out the final quarter. Plum's TD passes went to Pete Brewster on an eight-yarder and to Bob Mitchell, for 21. Brown notched his scores on runs of 23, 59 and three yards.

The Colts struck for three touchdowns in the first six minutes to knock off the Bears, undefeated in six exhibitions and the league opener.

San Francisco's Perry gained 44 yards, surpassing Steve Van Buren's lifetime mark by 17 yards. Perry now has rushed 5,877 yards in a nine-year career.

Students Studying in Living Rooms

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bleary-eyed students sat down to a lecture in nuclear physics this morning—but in their own living rooms instead of a classroom.

A televised physics course for full college credit began today over local station WMCB. The course is being credited by five colleges and universities in the area.

The lessons are being televised by the National Broadcasting Co. five days a week at 6:30 a.m. (CST).

President J. M. Smith of Memphis State University said his school will give three semester hours credit for the course, and students will follow regular registration procedure.

Smith said the program is designed primarily for high school physics teachers.

Besides Memphis State, other schools participating are the University of Mississippi, Arkansas State College, Delta State College at Cleveland, Miss., and Lenoire College in Memphis.

This Is Nat'l Newspaper Week in U. S.

By BEN PRICE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This is National Newspaper Week. And why should anybody but a bunch of newspapermen pay much attention?

There are some 2,700,000,000 people on this planet, about half of whom enjoy political freedom.

The others can neither read, speak, nor pray as and when they please. And above all, they can't go inquiring as citizens and taxpayers into their government.

Which brings us around to the fact that even in the United States, where a knowing electorate is considered the lifeblood of democracy, there are a good many public officials—federal, state, local—who hold that public business should be conducted like a private matter, especially where newspapers are concerned.

And it brings us to the further fact there is a small group, chiefly newspapermen, fighting to preserve the peoples' right to know on the grounds that if they don't know, democracy is headed for the graveyard.

These men are members of organizations little known to the general public, such as the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Publishers Assn., and Sigma Delta Chi, a fraternity of professional news gatherers.

Since June 8, 1955, these fighters for the right-to-know have had an ally in the House Subcommittee on Government Information headed by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.).

Just about every taxpayer complains about the high cost of government, but did you know that the Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, which handles billions of dollars worth of public works projects, refuses to meet in public or even disclose the votes of board members.

The International Cooperation Administration has refused to make its reports on billions of dollars worth of foreign aid projects public, or even disclose them to Congress or the General Accounting Office which by law is the watchdog over federal spending.

The Defense Department won't even let the General Accounting Office know how it is spending large sums.

The Commerce Department issued orders restricting the meeting of certain officials with congressional committees.

The State Department issued an order restricting contacts between officials and newspapermen seeking background information on foreign policy.

While there is secrecy on the federal level aplenty, it also exists on the state and local level. Boards of education and assorted state and city commissions often meet in secret to set policies and spend public funds.

Through long experience, newspapermen have come to realize that when officials make it a practice to conduct public business in private, the door is open to eventual abuses.

So this business of the public's right to know involves an almost constant struggle on many fronts. Since World War II it often has appeared that advocates of censorship, secrecy and propaganda have been gaining.

This year the advocates of freedom of information won a major battle though the campaign is far from over.

On Aug. 12 President Eisenhower signed into law a bill aimed at eliminating needless government secrecy. It was a one-line amendment to a 189-year-old law giving department heads the right to set up regulations concerning the use and storage of records.

The original law had been twisted to mean that access to the public's records could be denied merely by regulation. The amendment forbids this. Department heads in the government opposed the measure.

There is some indication of spreading alarm over suppression of information. The University of Missouri has established a Freedom-of-Information Center to keep tabs on abridgement of the public's right to know.

In Virginia the General Assembly passed a resolution urging all agencies of government to grant full access to information.

Right-to-know bills are before the New Jersey Legislature's Judiciary Committee, California already has an open meeting law.

The fight for open meetings lost in Michigan, South Carolina and Kentucky this year, but editors have organized to keep up the battle.

Editors have organized in Maine, New Hampshire and West Virginia to fight for the public's right to know. Nebraska and Missouri are launching surveys in secrecy preparatory to a drive for new laws. The Texas Legislature will get a right-to-know bill at its next session.

Florida press groups have endorsed an open meeting proposal. Nevada's editors are planning to seek right-to-know laws next year. South Dakota's editors are in the process of organizing.

effect to constitutional rights.

They said if Central High in Little Rock is allowed to reopen on a segregated basis, "the harmful effects both to the children and to the country could in no way be undone by the courts."

The judges have been asked to make permanent a temporary order, issued by a federal court in Omaha last Monday, forbidding the leasing of Little Rock schools to a private organization which proposes to operate them, with state funds, as private, segregated schools.

Pending the result of today's hearing, the Little Rock Private School Corp. is going ahead, looking for money, teachers, and buildings. Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation, says the private school system will open within the next few days if the Circuit Court hands down the permanent injunction today.

No briefs or intervening pleadings had been filed by attorneys for the Little Rock corporation or the city's School Board.

Raney contended in Little Rock last week, "he firmly believe that any interference with our lease of the high school buildings is illegal and constitutes further usurpation of the right of the state of Arkansas and the Little Rock school district to exercise the right of ownership over their properties."

But the government brief said a permanent injunction "is vitally necessary to maintain the supremacy of the federal judicial process against challenge by officials of the state of Arkansas."

It added: "Negro children have suffered long enough."

Mrs. Charles Shoemaker of Little Rock was the guest Wednesday of Mrs. Allen Gee.

Mrs. James Edward Duke and daughter, Jane Elizabeth of Sneremo, Calif. are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stockton and Mrs. Roy Duke.

A Nationalist spokesman told newsmen there the Communist cease fire announcement was "a propaganda stunt" adding up to "an admission of Communist failure to blockade Quemoy effectively."

It was doubted the Nationalists would have any interest in direct negotiations with the Chinese Communist regime. Officials of the Taipei government said recently that such negotiations in the past had never produced any real agreement.

Eisenhower and Dulles might also consider such direct negotiations undesirable. Many officials were reported to feel that the actual Communist aim is to drive a wedge between Taipei and Washington. Since the United States has no intention of abandoning Por-

Murder, Rape, Suicide at Paragould

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—It started Saturday night as a quiet outing for 20-year-old Clarence Henson of Black Oak and his 17-year-old pregnant wife Betty.

It ended early Sunday in stark tragedy with Henson lying shot to death in a lonely gravel pit and his wife the victim of a rape.

The young couple's assailant, a 21-year-old farm laborer, killed himself before police could reach him.

Sheriff W. S. Hyde said Jerry Ruben Truelove, a farm laborer who lived near Rives in southeast Missouri shot himself to death in the same gravel pit where he had forced the Hensons to accompany him.

The sheriff said Mrs. Henson told him Truelove allowed her to leave the pit after telling her "I've done too much and I'm going to kill myself."

The sheriff reconstructed the night's events from Mrs. Henson and gave this account:

Mr. and Mrs. Henson were sitting in a car Saturday night near a Paragould theater when Truelove approached and asked Henson to drive him to the country. After Henson told him the car belonged to his brother and he didn't have the keys, Truelove pulled a gun and ordered the couple to accompany him to his truck parked down the street.

Truelove drove to the secluded gravel pit. There, he ordered Henson out and shot him twice. Henson died instantly and Mrs. Henson said Truelove then raped her. She said Truelove lifted Henson's body into the back of the truck and told her to leave.

Baptist Church Turns Away Four Negroes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Four Negroes attempted to enter an all-white Baptist church here yesterday but were turned away. The pastor said they left voluntarily.

The Negroes—two men, a boy and a girl—arrived at the downtown Second Baptist Church shortly after services began. They were met at the door by two deacons who conferred with them briefly before they walked slowly away.

Dr. Dale Cowling, the pastor, said the Negroes left voluntarily after the deacons told them their presence would disrupt the service. "They did not insist on entering," Cowling said. "We would have admitted them if they had."

The incident marked the second straight Sunday that Negroes were present at white churches here. Last Sunday a Negro woman was admitted to services at the Pulaski Heights Methodist Church.

Both Cowling and Dr. J. Kenneth Shamblin, pastor of the Pulaski Heights church, have opposed other ministers in advocating integration as the only way to reopen Little Rock's high schools, closed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus as an anti-integration measure.

The ministers labeled the church integration incidents as efforts to embarrass them because of their stand on the school issue.

After the Negro woman attended last Sunday's services at the Methodist church, the church's governing board voted not to allow Negroes to attend services "during this period of tension."

Cowling said the deacons at his church had followed a policy of long standing in turning away the Negroes yesterday. He said the policy was adopted soon after the U. S. Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling of 1954 and called for deacons to instruct Negroes that it would be better if they did not attend the church.

Finds Some Drugs May Speed Cancer

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

Associated Press Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—A danger signal was flashed today in the wide-spread search for a chemical cure for cancer. Two researchers contended several drugs under study mopey and church school facilities and spread of tumors.

The report was made to the American College of Surgeons by Drs. Taisuke Kondo and George E. Moore of the Departments of Surgery, Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

If a chemical compound fails to knock out cancer cells and causes an undesirable body reaction, they said, it actually may stimulate the tumor to grow and spread by lowering the patient's normal resistance.

They based this conclusion on animal experiments and observation of patients in the late stages of the disease. The report said: "At the present time, most of the anticancer agents being used are toxic (poisonous) and they are ineffective against a majority of tumors. Thus, the possibility of deleterious effects such as have been demonstrated experimentally are great. One must conclude that until more effective non-toxic chemotherapeutic agents are found, they must be used more cautiously lest more harm than good result."

The surgeons said they observed the "phenomenon of an apparent stimulation of local tumor growth" in a group of advanced cancer patients treated with TSPA, actinomycin D, nitrophenol and NH₂.

Clergyman Dies at Fort Smith

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—The Rev. D. Elmer Hester, active clergyman here since 1928, collapsed and died during communion services at Central Presbyterian Church yesterday.

Hester, 68, died of a heart attack after a long illness. He had been pastor of the church from 1928 to 1943 and pastor emeritus since 1951. He was waiting to begin participation in the services when he was stricken.

More Trouble in Memphis Church

MEMPHIS (AP)—Three members of a white church here reportedly walked out when two Negroes attended services at the church yesterday morning.

The Negroes, a middle-aged woman and a boy, entered the Ebenezer Presbyterian Church shortly after services began and left during the closing benediction. They were treated courteously by the pastor, said Dr. W. J. Milburn, pastor. The church session of yesterday body had no action on the matter.

13 Persons Are Killed Accidentally

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen persons died violently in Arkansas last week, including nine on the state's highways. Two persons perished in fires, one by shooting and one when struck by a train.

Mrs. Naomi Rogers, 78, was killed last night by a Missouri Pacific freight train at Jonesboro as she crossed a railroad track on her way to church.

Officers said the train locomotive hurled her body about 100 feet from the grade crossing where she was struck. Ernest Taylor, 46-year-old Little Rock Negro, was fatally injured last night when his car and another collided at an intersection in Little Rock.

Patrolmen A. O. Evans said Taylor was thrown from his car when he collided with an auto driven by Bobby E. Molock, 21, of Little Rock. Molock was uninjured, the patrolman said.

Saturday night, a Malvern woman was killed and her husband seriously injured when their car ran into the banister of a bridge near Little Rock.

The woman, Mrs. Daisy Buckles Anderson, 63, was dead on arrival at a Little Rock hospital. Her husband, William C. Anderson, 67, was reported seriously hurt but his condition was not believed critical.

Anderson told police he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car. His vehicle struck a bridge over Maumelle Creek, on Route 100, about 17 miles west of Little Rock.

Arthur, Horton, a 62-year-old

Newport resident, died Saturday in the crash of an automobile and a trailer truck near Newport.

U. S. Court to Begin a Fall Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court begins a regular fall term today that is expected to produce important decisions in the fields of race relations and business regulation.

Following tradition, the court limits its first meeting to brief opening formalities. The justices will spend the remainder of the week discussing various appeals to closed conferences, and announce their first decisions next Monday.

Major cases in both racial and business fields are included in a pending docket of nearly 700 cases. They cover a wide variety of issues.

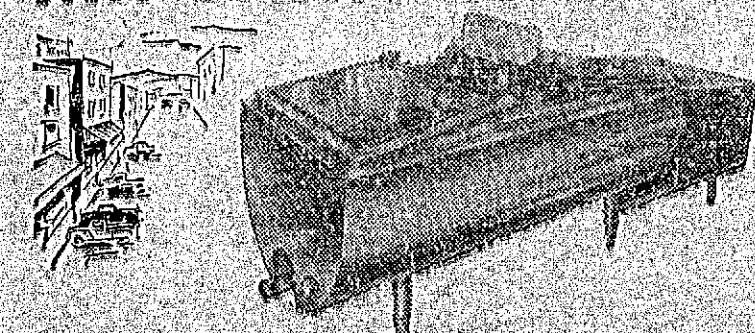

Twelve appeals involving racial questions face the court, which only a week ago spoke out in special session against evasive schemes to keep school segregation.

More such cases are expected during the nine-month term. Its Southern opponents of the Supreme Court's school rulings cast about for new ways to continue classes on a segregated basis.

Among these 12 pending appeals is one by Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas. He has asked the court to declare invalid an injunction issued by a lower court. The injunction halted use of National Guardsmen at Central High School in Little Rock in September 1957.

city's total polio caseload for the year to 529 and 10 deaths. Three of the new cases were paralytic. At this time last year, Detroit had 170 cases and two deaths.
